

Imran Khan carried out 'Suicide Bombings' throughout Pakistan: Former PM Shahid Abbasi.

Former Pak prime minister and leader of Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N), Shahid Khaqan Abbasi, launched a blistering attack on Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) Supremo Imran Khan, accusing him of violating the International Monetary Fund (IMF) deal and termed the acts of his party as 'suicide bombings' on the Nation.

Monday evening, The PML-N tweeted, citing Abbasi, that "PTI carried out suicide bombings throughout the country. The decisions they made in the last months, as well as how they violated the IMF deal and the savagery with which they did that, were no different than the acts of suicide attacks against the country."

Abbasi added that "Imran Khan had broken promises towards the people of Pakistan as he pushed the country into the doldrums due to his corrupt practices."

He urged the Pakistani citizens to solve the crisis without the fear of anyone. The PML-N leader accused Imran Khan, and his government of neglecting and destroying Pakistan's already plunged energy sector.

The extent to which this allegation is true can be gauged from the fact that recently Pakistan trimmed the working week by a day to help fix the ongoing energy crisis. Lunches, dinners, and high teas will no longer be served to officials, and the government is also considering making Friday a mandatory work-from-home day for its employees. Discussion is being carried out with provincial authorities to switch off street lights on alternate days.

Meanwhile, Ataullah Niazi, a Pakistani lawmaker from Karachi, has threatened to carry out suicide attacks against government leaders if "even a single hair on Imran Khan's head is harmed."

Ataullah, who is a leader of Imran Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party and also a member of Pakistan's National Assembly, was seen warning the authorities in a video shared on Twitter, "If even a single hair on Imran Khan's head is harmed, then those ruling the country be warned. Neither you nor your children will remain. I will be the first one to bring out a suicide attack on you; I will not spare you. Thousands of PTI workers are ready to do the same."

Ataullah's remarks came in the wake of rumors that a conspiracy was afoot to assassinate Imran Khan.

His supporters have warned of a threat to his life, and then information minister Fawad Chaudhry at the beginning of April, had disclosed that security agencies had reported a plot to assassinate Mr. Khan.

Adding fuel to the fire, Imran Khan's nephew, Hassaan Niazi, has warned of an "aggressive response" if any harm is caused to the former PM.

He further added, "Anything that happens to our leader Imran Khan will be treated as an attack on Pakistan. The response will be aggressive, and the handlers will also regret."

Earlier in April this year, despite several attempts to block the no-confidence motion in the National Assembly, the opposition ousted Imran Khan from the prime minister's post.

With that, Imran Khan became the first Prime Minister of Pakistan to lose a no-trust vote in Pakistan's history.

The cricketer-turned-politician alleged a foreign conspiracy – led by the United States - to overthrow his regime with the support of the opposition political parties. Very recently, he warned that Pakistan would descend into a civil war and would eventually split into three pieces, losing their nukes, if fresh elections were not announced.
